

Central Hatchery Alarm System

The large 48" (1.4 meter) digital unit displays current incubator alarm conditions and can be wall mounted conveniently for maximum visibility from large distances. This high-visibility unit continually scrolls data on all current machines in alarm until the condition is managed.

Stainless steel control box houses the PLC and touch-screen operated control unit. Before each alarm condition can be managed a unique pin number must be entered.

Touch-screen control.

Each alarm condition can be managed simply by a touch of the screen. Full historical alarm data is easily recalled from the touch-screen interface.

- Fully computerised system with touch-screen control can be fully integrated with the Galaxy Hatchery Monitoring system for specific alarm condition data display
- Allows full traceability of every alarm event. Pin number accountability ensures that all alarm events can be reviewed. System displays three months of full historical data
- Large screen marquee display can be wall mounted for maximum visibility. Identifies Hatchery Room and Incubator Number for immediate correction of alarm condition
- One system supports from 14 up to 110 incubators
- Closed circuit system ensures total fail-safe operation.
- Auto dial out capability for remote monitoring
- Easy to install by your maintenance personnel

The Chick Master Central Alarm System has been designed so that hatchery personnel can quickly identify and respond to machine alarm conditions.

Full traceability, with unique pin number accountability ensures that all incubator alarm conditions are always managed effectively.

Large, high visibility marquee display ensures quick response to potentially costly alarm conditions.

If linked to the Chick Master Galaxy Hatchery Monitoring system you will have the capability to display the specific alarm condition as well as the setter room and number.
